ARTICLE 1 GENERALITIES

These Rules are based on Art. 18, Letter O of the POSA Rules & Regulations and apply for all POSA official competitions (they should also be valid for all other events). These Rules outline the basic procedures for the Award Ceremony. Modifications to these Rules due to different events, venues, and/or special local circumstances may be made by the POSA President and/or the POSA General Secretary.

ARTICLE 2 POSA RESPONSABILITIES

During the Award Ceremony of POSA official competitions, the POSA acts as the event organizer.

In principle, the following authority members or other dignitaries, appointed by the Secretary General upon agreement with the POSA President and in consultation with the President of the organizing member federation, present the medals and diploma:

Gold Medals

1. IOC Member (if he/she is present at the ceremony)
2. NOC president of the organizing federation
3. Head of City of the organizing federation (if he/she is present at the ceremony)
4. Head of Ministry of sports of the organizing federation (if he/she is present at the ceremony)
5. POSA Honorary President (if he/she is present at the ceremony)
6. POSA Ambassador(s) (if he/she is present at the ceremony)
7. POSA EC members, including President, Secretary General and Vice-Presidents

Silver Medals

- POSA TC members, including the athletes' representative, POSA Judges and Head Judges of the competition

Bronze Medals

- Members of the organizing member federation or local organizing committee (LOC) or local political authorities, POSA Judges and Head Judges of the competition

The nomination for the remaining bronze medals is at the discretion of the organizing Member Federation, respecting their own and local protocol. Sponsors may not be chosen as medal presenters, but if approved by the POSA General Secretary, they may present e.g. trophies, cups, gifts, etc. (as fourth presenter).

Protocol principles

In principle, the Secretary General shall respect the following protocol establishing the list of medal presenters:

- Since the members of gold medal positions is limited, priority will be given in the order as listed above.
- Within the EC members, priority and order will be determined as listed in the POSA Directory. The same applies for TC members.
- In case there are more gold medal presenters than gold medal positions, the presenters shall award silver medals. Likewise, silver medal presenters could award bronze medals.
- In Pole Art and Aerial Art, the POSA Ambassadors will present the gold medals and one additional medal (silver, bronze or gold) in the Individual Apparatus Finals.

In Pole Sport, the POSA Ambassadors shall present the gold medal in the Individual Junior Categories. In Aerial Sport the POSA Ambassadors shall present the gold medal in the category they excelled.

- In the last medal award ceremony, the POSA President shall award the gold medal. He will be accompanied by the President of the organizing member federation awarding the silver medal.
- Changes, exceptions and special circumstances may occur and might not allow us to strictly follow the above-mentioned protocol. The Secretary General, upon agreement with the POSA President, is empowered to take the necessary decisions in such cases.

ARTICLE 3 TROPHIES, CUPS, GIFTS, ETC

Flowers and other awards may be officially presented to the athletes on the podium by the medal presenters.

Special trophies, cups, gifts, etc. may be presented by the respective sponsors and other personalities immediately following or during the official Award Ceremony, provided that prior approval is given by the POSA General Secretary.

ARTICLE 4 PERSONNEL FOR THE AWARD CEREMONY

The LOC must provide enough qualified and trained staff for the Award Ceremony. Appropriate clothing for the occasion must be worn.

The standard requirements are as follows:

- One chief hostess to be responsible for the entire course of the presentation
- One (min) hostess to accompany the athletes
- One (min) hostess to accompany the official presenters
- Enough hostesses to give medals, diplomas, as well as other awards to the presenters. These hostesses must carry appropriate pillows or trays for the awards.

The LOC must provide personnel to:

- assemble athletes and officials for the marching-in
- promptly set up the award podium at the completion of the event
- conduct the Ceremony to hoist the flags

ARTICLE 5 AWARD CEREMONY PODIUM

The LOC is expected to provide an awards podium that is large enough to accommodate Individuals, Trio & Doubles. The Award Podium must be approved by POSA.

The Award Ceremony podium must be set up so that from the winners' perspective, located in the center, the second place will be positioned on their right-hand side and the third place will be positioned on their left-hand side.

No advertising and publicity are allowed on the Award Ceremony podium.

It is compulsory to display the POSA logo in the center of the Award Ceremony podium.

It is desirable to decorate the area designated for the awards ceremony with carpeting and plants or flowers.

ARTICLE 6 FLAGS

The LOC must ensure the availability of the equipment to hoist the flags of the winners during the awards presentation. They should also take into consideration the possibilities for ties (more than one single flag per rank).

All flags must be of equal size.

Enough trained staff must be provided by the LOC to tie up and hoist the flags (see Art. 4 above, last paragraph).

ARTICLE 7 NATIONAL ANTHEMS AND MUSIC ACCOMPANIMENT

The LOC must ensure that several national anthems, if needed, can be performed successively without delays.

Each Head of Delegation must confirm the accuracy of his/her national anthem.

The national anthems must be played in full within one minute 30 seconds. If for some reason this is not possible the national anthem must be faded out after this time respecting the musical sequence.

The national anthem is only instrumental.

Suitable march-in and march-out music must be selected.

The time allocated to march-in and march-out should be as short as possible, but not longer than 30 seconds.

It is recommended to provide a background musical accompaniment for the Award Ceremony. For this, LOC should select music and get approval from POSA.

ARTICLE 8 LIGHTING

The LOC should ensure that the area set-up for the Award Ceremony has sufficient lighting for photographers and Television.

ARTICLE 9 ANNOUNCER'S TEXT

The script to be used by the announcer during the Award Ceremony is compulsory and must be studied carefully to avoid errors. The script is included in Appendix # 1 (enclosed).

The Award Ceremony can be presented in the Organizing Federation's native language and in English. In case that the organizing Federation's language is English, the second language shall be French.

ARTICLE 10 REHEARSAL

The Medal Award Ceremony must be prepared well in advance and the personnel assigned must be properly trained. One or several rehearsal(s) must be organized in the presence of the respective Sports Manager and approved by the latter. The following basic procedures and instructions must apply for the Award Ceremony.

ARTICLE 11 PROCEDURE FOR THE AWARDS CEREMONY

Immediately after the competition, the athletes being honored (medalists), the presenters and the hostesses must assemble and line up in the designated area for the march-in. This area must be communicated in advance by the LOC staff (see Art. 4 above, last paragraph). The athletes must line-up as follows: rank 3-1-2 or rank 2-1-3 if march-in from opposite side (see also Appendix #3 for the Teams' Awards). For the Individual competition in Pole Art and Aerial Art Ind. only, the 4th to 10th place winners is also marching in to receive a diploma. They form a line behind the 3rd place winner. They will refrain from congratulating the 1st to 3rd place winners. The hostesses should ensure this. The Diplomas are presented by the representatives of the POSA. For the team award ceremony, the respective national Coach or Head Coach shall march in with his/her team to receive a medal. After this presentation, the national anthem of the first-place winner is played. The flags of the 1st to 3rd ranked participants are raised. Everyone at the awards party will turn to face the flags.

The athletes must wear their national tracksuit for the Award Ceremony. The chief hostess or the person responsible in the LOC for the Award Ceremony, must inform the competitors of the correct competition attire and must strictly enforce the Rules if need be.

The presenters must march in as follows: 3rd place, 1st place, 2nd place, and other awards if any. Depending on the presenters' positions on the floor area, the reverse order may be used as follows: 2nd place, 1st place, 3rd place, and other awards if any. The officials must be positioned on the podium to face the flagpoles (see also Appendix #3 for the Teams' Awards).

The marching-in will begin with the start of the music or the appropriate fanfare.

The athletes enter the podium area first, followed by the simultaneous entrance of the presenters and the hostesses (the path to march in is illustrated in Appendix # 2 to # 5). If feasible, all parties may march in together to save time.

Once the medalists, presenters and hostesses are positioned on the podium, the Ceremony officially starts with a fanfare, followed by the script (according to Appendix #1).

The speaker announces the third, second and then the first-place winners and the medalists step up on the podium one after another (with the assistance of the hostesses if required).

The speaker announces the medal presenters whilst, who together with the hostesses, they step forward simultaneously and present the three medals (and possibly the flowers) to the athletes at the same time too. In case trophies, cups, gifts, etc. are awarded, a fourth presenter (e.g. sponsor) may step forward onto the podium and distribute the awards to the athletes.

The hostesses step back as soon as the presenters have taken the medals from the tray to clear the view for the public and the media.

While the gold medal presenter must exclusively congratulate and shake hands with the gold medalists, likewise, the silver medal presenter must solely congratulate and shake hands with the silver medalists and the bronze medal presenter must only congratulate and shake hands with the bronze medalists. Medal presenters shall refrain from kissing the athletes.

After the medal's presentation, the officials must step back as soon as possible to clear the view.

The flags for the 1st, 2nd and 3rd ranked participants are then hoisted. All parties must turn to face the flags.

Once the National anthem is played, the athletes must remain on the podium for a short while to provide photographers with the opportunity to take pictures. According to the layout of the competition hall, the medalists are encouraged to turn to face all sides of the hall and salute the entire audience.

The athletes must then step back, and all parties must march out, led by the hostesses.

Cases the Award Ceremonies may take place at another place than the Competition Venue (i.e. a public place, a historical building, etc.). The clothing of the athletes will be mentioned in the Work Plan.

The organization of the Award Ceremony in such a place must be approved by the POSA Executive Committee. The details of the "Flower ceremony" in the venue and the special medal award ceremony shall be determined by the Secretary General, respecting as far as possible the principles and procedures laid out in these rules.

ARTICLE 12 MULTIPLE AWARDS PRESENTATIONS

If more than one Award Ceremony takes place, the same protocol must be repeated. In this case, the competitors, hostesses and medal presenters for the two Award Ceremonies must march in simultaneously.

If possible, no more than two Awards Ceremonies should be conducted at the same time.

If two Award Ceremonies have conducted one immediately following the other (instead as simultaneously), the marching-out of the first Award Ceremony must be planned at the same time as the marching-in of the second Award Ceremony, using the same music or the same appropriate fanfare.

These POSA Rules for award Ceremonies have been approved by POSA and enter into effect 1st January 2025.
